

All of the examples below were created specifically to meet each individual teacher's specific needs. ELE Experiences are not limited to those listed below....

3rd Grade Social Studies and Language Arts: Revolutionary War

Students focus on SC Learner Standards about the causes of the Revolutionary War—including Stamp Act, Intolerable Acts, and Tea Act/Boston Tea Party. Residency results in original plays created and performed by students.

3rd Grade Language Arts: Fables, Folklores and Myths:

Stories were meant to be performed (and created)! Students learn contrast and compare while learning popular fables, folklores and myths. Students not only perform their stories, they also add their own twists.

4th Grade Science and Language Arts: Heredity

Students combine the characters of Charlotte's Web and with inheriting physical family traits. What Wilbur and Charlotte's children looked like? How might they behave? Why? Students combine that knowledge and create an original script.

6th Grade Social Studies: Feudal System/Catholic Hierarchy and Language Arts

Students learn about the similarities between the hierarchy of the feudal system and the Catholic Church through role playing, costume designing and performance. An additional bonus is the conversation of status within their own middle school social hierarchy.

Science and Language Arts: Periodic Table: How do Noble Gases react with each other? How does Water react with Potassium? These concepts/relationships and more are explored through the student created scripts that are performed.
